STATE INCOME TAXATION OF MILITARY PERSONNEL AND UNITED STATES CITIZENS RESIDING OUTSIDE OF THE UNITED STATES

Introduction

This report examines and summarizes the laws of the fifty states and the District of Columbia respecting the taxation of income of United States citizens domiciled within the state but residing abroad. The report is divided into four substantive sections. Section I discusses the law of states with no foreign tax credit or exemption provision. Section II analyzes the laws of states which grant an income tax credit for foreign income tax paid to a foreign country. In many cases, these states merely permit credit of any taxes paid outside of the state, whether to other states or to foreign governments. Section III describes the laws of the states which exempt income earned abroad to the same extent as such income is exempted by federal law. Section IV lists the seven states which have no income tax. Since no income tax is imposed, there can really be no substantive discussion of the treatment of United States citizens domiciled in the state but residing abroad. States which tax only certain types of income, such as dividends and interest (see discussions of New Hampshire and Tennessee), are discussed under the general tax provisions in Section I.

The first three sections are divided into a discussion of the definitions of domicile and residency for state income tax purposes, the tax base used by the state, and the probable income tax obligation in each of these states for domiciliaries residing abroad. In addition, special note is made where state domicile or residency is determined in whole or in part by voting within the state and where special rules apply to military personnel.

In regard to the special rules applicable to military personnel, a number of states merely refer to the tax provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, presently found at 50 U.S.C. App. 574. Generally, this section provides that for state income tax purposes, an individual does not lose domicile in a specific state solely "by reason of being absent therefrom in compliance with military or naval orders" The same law also provides that, for state income tax purposes, an individual does not acquire residence or domicile solely because of location under military orders. The Act further states that, where an individual is not deemed to reside or be domiciled in a state, military income will be treated by that state as non-resident income not earned within the state.

Section 911 of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) permits United States citizens who reside abroad to exclude from their gross income up to $78,000 of foreign earned income in tax year 2001 and a certain recognized amount for housing. This exclusion applies to taxpayers living abroad who were present in a foreign country or countries for 330 days out of any 12 consecutive months. In tax year 2002, the earned income excludable amount will be $80,000. The housing cost amount is the excess of the taxpayer's expenses over a base housing amount. The base housing amount is equal to 16 percent of the salary of a GS-14 government employee. As of January 1, 2001 this salary is $67,765 so that the current base housing amount would be $10,842.40. Housing costs provided by an employer may also be excluded from the gross income of the employee. In line with this, IRC § 119 provides that lodging furnished in an overseas camp may be excluded from the employee's income. It should be noted that neither exclusion is applicable to wages paid by the United States government even if the Federal employee is residing abroad.

Most states, and the District of Columbia, have signed agreements with the Treasury Department which provide for the withholding of state income taxes from the pay of service members. The text of the standard agreement may be found at 31 CFR § 215.6 - 13 (2001). The following states do not have standard agreements with the Treasury Department to withhold state income taxes from the pay of members of the armed services: Alaska, Florida, Nevada, South Dakota, Texas, Washington, and Wyoming.

The information contained in this report is accurate through the end of the 2000 legislative session of each state.

If such person is absent for at least 18 months under an employment dated contract they are not considered to be outside the state for a temporary or transitory purposes (This exception does not apply to those who receive over $200,000 in unearned income in a tax year). Any individual who is a resident of the state continues to be a resident even though temporarily absent from the state. An individual domiciled in California is absent from the state for a temporary purpose if such absence is by reason of (1) holding an elected or appointed office in the Federal Government or (2) working on the staff of an elected officer of the legislative branch of the U.S. Government. Cal. Rev. & Tax Code § 17014. Every individual who spends in the aggregate more than nine months of the taxable year within the state is presumed to be a resident. Cal. D.C. Code tit. 47, § 1801.4. Under an earlier District of Columbia tax law, the Supreme Court held that whether or not a person votes where he claims domicile is highly relevant, but by no means controlling on the question whether he is domiciled in the District of Columbia, nor is failure to vote elsewhere conclusive that domicile is in the District. District of Columbia v. Murphy, 314 U.S. 441 (1941); see also District of Columbia v. Woods, 465 A.2d 385 (1983). See Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act.	The entire net income of residents. D.C. II. STATES GRANTING AN INCOME TAX CREDIT FOR FOREIGN INCOME TAX PAID

State	Income Tax Coverage	Tax Base	Probable Tax Obligation
Arizona	Residents and certain non-residents -- The term "resident" includes: (1) every individual who is in the state for other than a temporary or transitory purpose, and (2) every individual domiciled in the state who is outside the state for a temporary or transitory purpose. Every individual who spends in the aggregate more than nine months of the taxable year within the state is presumed to be a resident. Ariz. Rev. Stat. Ann. §§ 43-104(14), 43-104(19). See Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act. 50 U.S.C. App. § 574.	The entire taxable income of every resident and the entire taxable income of every non-resident which is derived from sources within the state. Ariz. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 43-1011. Since Arizona computes its own taxable income from federal adjusted gross income, the exclusions under §§ 911-912 of the IRC for income from sources without the United States are apparently adopted by into the computation of Arizona taxable income. Any combat pay not already excluded by § 112 of the IRC is specifically excluded. Ariz. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 43-1022(19). Residents are allowed a credit only for taxes paid to the other state or country on income derived from sources within that state or country which is taxable under the foreign laws without regard to the residence or domicile of the recipient. No credit is allowed if the other state or country allows residents of Arizona a credit against taxes imposed by that state or country for taxes paid to Arizona. Ariz. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 43-1071. Non-residents are allowed a credit against Arizona taxes on income derived from sources within Arizona only if (1) the foreign country does not tax income of residents of Arizona derived from sources within that country or (2) allows residents of Arizona credit against taxes imposed by that country on such income for taxes paid to Arizona. Ariz. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 43-1096.	Residents -- Subject to tax on entire net income with §§ 911-912 and § 112 exclusions and the possibility of receiving a credit for foreign taxes paid. Non-residents -- Subject to tax on net income derived from sources within Arizona with the possibility of receiving a credit for foreign taxes paid on such income.
Hawaii	Residents and certain non-residents -- A "resident" is defined as every individual who resides in the state for other than a temporary or transitory purpose. Every individual who is in the state more than 200 days of the taxable year in the aggregate is presumed to be a resident. This presumption may be overcome by evidence satisfactory to the Department of Taxation that the individual maintains a permanent place of abode outside of the state and is in the state for a temporary or transitory purpose. No person shall be deemed to have gained or lost a residence simply because of his presence or absence in compliance with military or naval orders. Haw. Rev. Stat. § 235-1.	The entire income of all residents. The income received or derived from property owned, personal services performed, trade or business carried on, and any and every other source in the state by a non-resident. Haw. Rev. Stat. § 235-4(a), (b). Because Hawaii computes its own taxable income from federal adjusted gross income, the exclusions under § 911 of the IRC for income from sources without the United States are apparently adopted into the computation of Hawaii taxable income. Section 912 exclusions are specifically added back into Hawaii adjusted gross income. Haw. Rev. Stat. § 235-7(b). Residents are allowed a credit for taxes paid to an other state or country, which are paid on income derived from sources outside the state. The credit is not allowed for taxes paid on income excluded under § 911. Haw. Rev. Stat. § 235-55(a). Because Hawaii computes its own taxable income from federal adjusted gross income, the exclusion under § 112 of the IRC for compensation received for active service as a member of the armed forces of the United States for any month during which such member served in a combat zone or was hospitalized as a result of an injury incurred in such service is apparently incorporated into the computation of Hawaii taxable income. The first $1,750 of income to members of the armed forces reserves is also excluded from gross income. Haw. Rev. Stat. § 235-7(a)(7)	Residents -- Subject to tax on all income with § 911 and § 112 exclusions, and with the possibility of a credit for foreign taxes paid. Non-residents -- Subject to tax on income derived from sources within Hawaii, with the possibility of a credit for foreign taxes paid. Military personnel -- Subject to tax on military compensation with the exclusion of combat pay.

II. STATES GRANTING AN INCOME TAX CREDIT FOR FOREIGN INCOME TAX PAID

State	Income Tax Coverage	Tax Base	Probable Tax Obligation
Indiana	Residents and non-residents -- The term "resident" is defined as any individual who was domiciled in the state during the taxable year, or any individual who maintains a permanent place of residence in the state and spends more than 183 days of the taxable year within the state. Ind. Stat. § 6-3-1-12. The term "non-resident" is defined as any person who is not a resident of Indiana. Ind. Stat. § 6-3-1-13. See Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act.	The entire federal adjusted income of residents, with adjustments not herein relevant. Ind. Stat. § 6-2.1-2-2. Since Indiana computes its own taxable income from federal adjusted gross income, the exclusions under §§ 911-912 of the IRC for income from sources without the United States are apparently adopted into the computation of Indiana taxable income. Ind. Stat. § 6-2.1-2-2. The federal adjusted gross income of non-residents derived from sources within Indiana. Ind. Stat. § 6-2.1-2-2. Indiana also gives its residents and non-residents a credit against Indiana income tax for taxes paid to another state or foreign country on income subject to tax in Indiana. Ind. Stat. §§ 6-3-3-3, 6-3-1-25. Indiana allows a deduction of $2,000 per year from adjusted gross income for individuals who are members of the United States armed forces. Military retirees over 60 years of age may deduct $2,000 in retirement or survivors' benefits. Ind. Stat. § 6-3-2-4.	Residents -- Subject to tax on federal adjusted gross income (above the exclusions under §§ 911-912 of the IRC) with the possibility of a credit for foreign taxes paid. Non-residents -- Subject to tax on federal adjusted gross income derived from sources within Indiana, with the possibility of a credit for foreign taxes paid. Military personnel and merchant marine -- Subject to tax on military compensation with stated exclusions.
Iowa	Residents and non-residents -- The term "resident" is defined as any individual domiciled in the state, and any other individual who maintains a permanent place of abode with the state. Iowa Code § 422.4(15). The term "non-resident" includes all individuals who are not residents. Iowa Code § 422.4(10). The Iowa tax regulations state that unless there is evidence to the contrary, one will be presumed to be domiciled in the state if he or she exercises the right to vote, uses homestead credit or military exemption, or otherwise exercises his or her rights to suffrage. Iowa Tax Regs. subrule 38.1(9); In the Matter of Fox, 1996 Iowa Tax LEXIS 1996. See Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act.	The entire income of the residents defined as federal adjusted gross income, with certain adjustments not herein relevant. Iowa Code § 422.7. Since Iowa computes its own net income from federal adjusted gross income, the exclusions under §§ 911-912 of the IRC for income from sources without the United States are apparently adopted into the computation of Iowa net income. The net income of non-residents derived from sources within Iowa. Iowa Code §§ 422.5(j); 422.8(2). Iowa also provides a credit against Iowa tax for taxes paid to another state or foreign country on income subject to tax in Iowa. Iowa Code § 422.8(1). Since Iowa computes its own taxable income from federal adjusted gross income, the exclusion under § 112 of the IRC for compensation received for active service as a member of the armed forces of the United States for any month during which such member served in a combat zone or was hospitalized as a result of an injury incurred in such service is apparently adopted into computation of Iowa taxable income. Iowa Code § 422.7	Residents -- Subject to tax on federal adjusted gross income (above the exclusions under §§ 911-912 of the IRC) with the possibility of a credit for foreign taxes paid. Non-residents -- Subject to tax on federal adjusted gross income derived from sources within Iowa, with the possibility of a credit for foreign taxes paid. Military personnel -- Subject to tax on military compensation with stated exclusions. ompensation with stated exclusions.

Me. Rev. Stat. tit. 36 § 5102. The term "non-resident" is defined as an individual who is not a resident. Me. Rev. Stat. tit. 36 § 5102. See Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act.	The taxable income of residents is defined as federal adjusted gross income allocated to state sources with certain modifications not herein relevant. Since Maine computes its own taxable income from federal adjusted gross income, the exclusions under §§ 911-912 of the IRC for income from sources without the United States are apparently adopted into the computation of Maine taxable income. Me. Rev. Stat. tit. 36 § 5121. The portion of federal adjusted gross income of non-residents derived from sources within the state. Me. Rev. Stat. tit. 36 § 5142. A resident is allowed a tax credit for taxes paid to another state or foreign country. Me. Rev. Me. Rev. The term "non-resident" is defined as any natural person whose domicile is outside the Commonwealth. Mass. Gen. L. Ann. ch. 62, § 1(f). The Massachusetts Board of Tax Appeals has ruled that change of domicile from the Commonwealth to a foreign country requires greater proof of intent to abandon domicile than a change of domicile between states of the United States. Farr v. Commissioner, 1 Mass. B.T.A. 467 (1932). See Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act.	The taxable income of residents defined as federal adjusted gross income.
